JUMP THE SHARK House SPECIAL

House jumped the shark [You Tell Us, 3/26]? Hell, yes! I used to watch this show regularly but stopped about five months ago. It's just gotten too unrealistic. —Russ Rougeau, Sparks, Nev.

I disagree with Kathleen Roberts. House went through a lot of trouble to keep his staff in the dark [about his brain cancer] only to have them undo it all by being so nosy. He didn't put them through hell. They did it to themselves. —Joan Kirshner, St. Louis eventually desert him. —Gordon Dupuis, Southbridge, Mass.

From Episode 1, this show has been about the crazy things House does. That's what makes him great, and that's also what makes this a TV show. —Emily Schneider, Milwaukee, Wis.

Kathleen Roberts' comments about not caring about House anymore just prove House's cynical self-wounding theory that if he pushes enough everyone will House cares for himself first, patients next and others after that. He is who he is. —Claudia Wilcox, North Vassalboro, Maine
